

Vacancy Notice for the post of Seconded National Expert in the ECSEL Joint Undertaking
as
“Dissemination and Knowledge Management Officer - DKMO”
Reference: ECSEL-2018-03-DKMO

The Electronic Component and System for European Leadership (ECSEL) Joint Undertaking is a public-private partnership on electronic components and systems, established by Council Regulation 561/2014.

Electronic Components and Systems (ECS) are a pervasive Key Enabling Technology (KET), impacting all industrial branches and almost all aspects of life. A smartphone, a smart card, a smart energy grid, a smart city, even smart governance; everything “smart” is based on integrating semiconductor chips running embedded software. They provide the fabric on which the internet runs; they give life to portable phones and tablets; they drive driverless cars and trains, fly airliners, drones and satellites. In modern times, no national economy can win in the global competition without mastering this technology, with unparalleled systemic and strategic impact.

The ECSEL Joint Undertaking provides financial support for Research, Development and Innovation projects, mainly in the form of grants to participants following open and competitive calls for proposals.

Members of the Joint Undertaking are the European Union through the Commission, Member States and Associated Countries to the Framework Programme Horizon 2020 on a voluntary basis, and three associations (AENEAS, EPoSS, and ARTEMIS Industry Association) representing the actors from the areas of micro- and nano-electronics, smart integrated systems and embedded/cyber-physical systems.

ECSEL JU is located in Brussels.

OVERALL PURPOSE

The Seconded National Expert shall act as Dissemination and Knowledge Management Officer (DKMO), reporting to the Head of Unit Communication of the ECSEL JU Office, working in close cooperation with the Operational Unit; shall manage the dissemination efforts, the development of methods to collect and analyse ECSEL JU funded relevant projects' results; shall prepare communications adapted to various audiences in a timely manner (similar to the marketing or PR function in the private sector); assist the Operational Unit to better evaluate and categorise the main technical achievements of the programme, and support the Communication Unit for activities towards policy makers and broader stakeholders / public.

In order to collect such information, clearly defined groups of knowledge repositories need to be identified (e.g. projects coordinators, experts, project reports and deliverables, European Commission, etc.), in particular through tools provided through the European Commission (D&E Net, Cordis, Corda Dashboard, ...) and then validated and engaged, for example by means of interviews with project participants. The DKMO should be able to encapsulate the ECSEL portfolio in relevant statistics, articles, templates, presentations, and/or video scripts, or any other format deemed necessary for publication and dissemination.
